
Lady of Light

Lady of Light walks down the stairs
Of our yellow house in Hungerland;
Takes me by the hand gracefully,
Opens the door silently, brings me
To the meadow behind the bare hedge.

A non blinding sizzling white Light
Shines from behind the trees,
My body trembles in my sleep.

The Lady never left me since,
And that made all the difference.