
May

May is the cruelest month since the Mankai, the cherry blossom of the Sakura, is gone again.

Hanami, watching the flowers bloom in colours white, shades of pink with a tinge of red, or even vivid yellow,

Is a feeling of utmost bewonderment, touching bewilderment (*).
It reminds us of who we really are.

Sakura creating Mankai, Mankai creating Hanami, the Wheel of Life spinning the cycle of blossoming and dying around and around.

With every turn gaining higher ground, since Consciousness is extending into ever deeper Understanding, Beauty and Oneness.
